2. Additional studies (such as traffic, water, biological, historical, etc.) and information may be required by DSD and/or hearing body to fully understand potential impacts.

CONDITIONAL REZONE OPTION:

When considering a zoning map amendment (rezone) of a property, a conditional rezone is recommended when considering conceptual site plan and/or addressing potential impacts through mitigation strategies and measures such as restricting uses, limiting the area to be rezoned to retain agricultural uses, and agricultural preservation methods such as buffers and disclosures. Without a conditional rezone, no conditions can be considered as part of the rezone application. Please discuss the conditional rezone option with a DSD Planner prior to application submittal.

The applicant/owner and DSD Planner must sign (below) if the conditional rezone option was discussed and the applicant/owner declined the option.

To Whom It May Concern,

Michelle Pruett is the owner of R37229010A0, a 16.489 acre parcel with shop/horse stalls, irrigated pasture, and an irrigated hay field. She is applying for a conditional re-zone from agricultural zoning to rural residential zoning, which is consistent with the comprehensive plan.

The request is definitely appropriate based on the surrounding land uses, of which there are even higher density areas adjacent to Ms. Pruett's property than what Ms. Pruett is applying for. Her request will not negatively affect the character of the area, as she is only wanting to separate her current parcel into two rural residential parcels (via administrative land division post re-zone). Both parcels would still have pasture and/or hay ground, and her irrigation rights would be divided appropriately between the two. The shop already has an individual well and septic system, so there would only be one additional proposed individual well and one additional proposed septic system.

There is already legal access to the property. In order to split the parcel into two, an ingress/egress/utility easement would be granted to the parcel in the NW corner that will include the existing shop/horse stalls. A surveyor has already been contracted to prepare the legal descriptions and easement.

Per Golden Gate Highway Department, the request would not require public street improvements to Ustick Rd, nor would it cause undue interference with traffic patterns.

The only impact to essential public services and facilities would be the possibility of two additional households. However, once the parcels were developed into homesites, those households would also be paying property taxes to mitigate their impact.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Katie Burford
